I am standing for the RACMA Board to help drive transformation that strengthens clinical leadership, improves governance, and supports our members in delivering sustainable, equitable healthcare. My career has spanned clinical medicine, executive leadership, and health systems strategy across New Zealand and Australia. I believe RACMA is uniquely placed to shape the future of medical leadership - championing evidence-based decision making, ethical use of technology, and collaboration across disciplines.

I bring experience in leading large-scale service change, integrating digital health innovations, and improving organisational performance through practical governance. I am committed to ensuring the College remains relevant, forward-looking, and responsive to the changing needs of members and the communities we serve.

I would be honoured to represent you on the Board and contribute to a shared vision of strong, connected medical leadership that transforms healthcare for the better.
